

Prehistoric Remains Found On Vancouver Island

Proof that elephants roamed the prehistoric forests of British Columbia many thousands of years ago has been established by discovery of remains of one species, the mastodon, in a gravel pit at Shawnigan Lake. A model of the elephant is shown above, together with a tooth of the animal which was picked up in the loose gravel. Compare the tooth with that of the whale, right, the modern world's largest mammal. (See story, Page 7.)

VANCOUVER (CP) — News-paper pictures of Vancouver socialites wintering in expensive U.S. resorts have started Magistrate Oscar Orr wondering.

B.C. Telephone Soon To Seek Rate Increase

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Telephone Company will shortly seek a general increase in rates, it was announced today by Gordon Farrell, president.

He made the disclosure in the company's 57th annual report.

He said general increases in rates will be necessary to meet increasing costs.

The company failed by $32,000 to earn its full dividend requirements for 1948, and the report said:

"While the company failed to earn completely the dividend requirements for the year, the amount by which it fell short was provided from surplus."

Unlike many other firms, said Mr. Farrell, the company cannot finance expansion out of earnings, but must have earnings sufficient to attract large amounts of new capital to meet the record-breaking demand for telephone service.

Gross revenues went up from $10,987,513 in 1947 to a record of

Canada Suggests Economic Clause In Defence Pact

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian negotiators in Washington are taking an active part in argument for an "economic consultation" clause in the proposed North Atlantic Security Pact, it was learned here today.

The work and organization is in the hands of a team of Customs officers who personally superintend the distribution.

Most of the cigarettes are those taken from visitors from the U.S.

"People often wonder what we do with them," went on Mr. Yardley, "now they know."

Differences between the United States and other participants on the "obligations clause" are understood to have so narrowed that agreement may be possible in a matter of days.

This has to do with the commitment of signatory countries to go to war. In the United States only Congress can declare war and the country cannot be committed in advance, under terms of the United States constitution.

GOVERNMENT DECIDES

In Canada, as in the United Kingdom, the legal situation is that war can be declared by the King on advice of his ministers. The practice, when Canada has been led into war, has been for the proposal to be submitted to Parliament.

Thus the sort of clause necessary to fit into United States constitutional requirements would be in keeping with Canada's conventional method.

However, a clause committing the country in advance to declare war against an aggressor attacking any of the participants would not interfere with Canadian legal procedure.

B.C. Plans $4,000,000 Colquitz Mental Home

Smuggled Smokes For Hospitalized War Veterans

The Customs man strikes no terror when he pays his call at the D.V.A. Hospital. He has, indeed, become their Santa Claus, but unlike that benefactor, the Customs man makes a visit round about the 25th of every month of the year.

Purpose of the visit is to distribute contraband cigarettes to the veterans.

Gerald A. Yardley, collector of customs in Victoria, explains that until recently all the cigarettes and tobacco impounded by his men was destroyed.

"It seems a waste," he continued, "so we obtained the permission of the Customs authorities in Ottawa to distribute the contraband to the D.V.A. patients.

"We made our first distribution in December, and followed it up in January and February. Our call last night our men distributed 9,200 cigarettes, enough to give each patient a couple of packs. The average, so far, is about 10,000 cigarettes per month."

The work and organization is in the hands of a team of Customs officers who personally superintend the distribution.

Most of the cigarettes are those taken from visitors from the U.S.

"People often wonder what we do with them," went on Mr. Yardley, "now they know."

It is understood the new project will be erected on property which the provincial government purchased within the last year or so to the east of the present Colquitz mental hospital. The building presently used was originally erected as a provincial jail.

Mr. Pearson indicated the Colquitz project would aid greatly in solving the accommodation problem in provincial mental hospitals. Several other projects are under construction and others are planned on the mainland.

The result of the program will be to provide a net increase in accommodation of 1,000 beds during the forthcoming fiscal year which will start next April 1.

"On the basis of present calculations of an increase of 125 patients per year for the next four years, the program of building will eliminate all overcrowding," said the minister.

This has to do with the commitment of signatory countries to go to war. In the United States only Congress can declare war and the country cannot be committed in advance, under terms of the United States constitution.

GALLERY REACTIONS

AS I SIT IN THE Legislative Chamber and, from the floor, look up at the galleries I often wonder what those who look down upon us—some, perhaps, in more than one sense!—think of the deliberations and the deliberators.

Sometimes during an exchange between members, or when sallies and interjections greet a speaker, I catch a look of disapproval from a galleryite who doesn't approve of such goings-on.

Then, just as often, there are those who visibly perk up at such moments and register their enjoyment, as if welcoming a break from the boredom of dull debate and routine business.

APPLAUSE FORBIDDEN

I REMEMBER SEVERAL years ago when a newcomer to the galleries, carried away by something that was being said on the floor, broke into applause. The Speaker didn't hear it, but I well recall the consternation it caused among the older parliamentarians. It was almost as if someone had applauded at a funeral service!

Sometimes, when debates are prolonged for weeks and weeks and one gets tired of hearing the sound of voices, I am tempted to wish someone would start something in the galleries. It would relieve the tension, as well as the tedium, at times.

But applause is not tolerated in our own Dominion Parliament nor in the British House. Nor is it considered proper in the U.S. Congress, although I myself have heard spasmodic outbreaks on the occasions when I have sat in on that august body's proceedings.

MANIFESTATIONS

I NOTICE BY A RECENT press report, however, that the halls of Congress have resounded four times in recent weeks to what the Record describes as "manifestations of applause in the galleries."

One such occurred when a spectator tried to interrupt the proceedings with an oration of his own, the galleries applauding his ejection by the attendants.

Such demonstrations may be devastating to decorum, but they at least serve to remind parliamentarians that it is dealing with human reactions. On the other hand, of course, there is the danger that, given encouragement from spectators, members might play too much to the galleries!

COUGH CONTEST

ANOTHER PHENOMENON I have noticed in our local House is the extraordinary fitness of the galleryites, even the regular ones. By which I mean that, to quote one of the old cigarette advertisements, "there's not a cough in a carload."

No matter how much flu and "sneezing and wheezing" may be prevalent among the general public outside, it is amazing how seldom one hears a cough in the Legislature. Perhaps it is because we are so interesting!

Apropos of coughing, I smiled at an item from a West Wickham, England, parish magazine the other day. The vicar of that Kentish town's St. Francis Church wants to match his congregations against audiences at BBC concerts to see which coughs the loudest.

CHORUS STARTS

WRITING IN THE MAGAZINE, he alluded to correspondence in the daily press complaining of coughing by radio audiences, and added:

"I think members of our congregation could easily beat anything they could do. In fact, all I have to do is to begin a lesson to start a chorus of coughing all over the church."

So, whatever the reason may be, I am glad we haven't to contend with cough choruses in the Legislature. It can be so contagious!

Member Advocates Low Rental Houses To Abolish Slums

A. J. Turner, C.C.F., Vancouver East, claimed in the Legislature Wednesday it would be cheaper for the government to pay part of the rent for new homes for present slum dwellers than to continue to pay the huge costs of maintaining these slum areas.

The continued demand for more and bigger hospitals, more and bigger jails, and huge extensions to the mental institutions are indicative of the serious condition which we are in, and who can say to where we are drifting?" he asked. "The answer is surely not in bigger hospitals, jails, asylums, but in a mass attack on causes.

"It has been proven beyond doubt that bad housing is one of the main contributory causes to the social evils. All housing authorities agree on this."

The minister claimed critics of the plan had failed to put forward reasonable alternatives and quarreled with the fundamental and universally accepted principles of forest management, rather than with the specific plans put forward by the government.

Mr. Kenney repudiated a significant trend on the part of industry was away from the "export mill." He said high quality big timber in B.C. was on the way out and the province could not maintain its position on low quality small timber.

Mr. Turner said the federal government would not act to provide low rental housing unless the province took the initiative. He said that in many countries the government had recognized its responsibility to provide low rental homes when private industry had failed to provide housing accommodation at prices which the low income groups could afford.

Partial Dike Collapse No Cause For Alarm

The fact that a 100-foot section of new dyke in the Fraser Valley collapsed this week does not indicate that the whole 250-mile construction project is faulty, Premier Byron Johnson told the Legislature Wednesday.

Mr. Johnson said that weather had been unparalleled and out of the huge project this failure which was small was the only one. He added he had confidence in the Dominion-provincial diking authority charged with rebuilding the dikes.

His comment came during a talk by Arthur Turner, C.C.F., Vancouver East. Mr. Turner read an editorial suggesting a checkup of other dikes should be undertaken.

Mr. Kenney said exploratory drilling had been carried on in the Peace River district "with some encouraging results," while drilling for production is proceeding in the Flathead Valley at the far southeast corner of the province.

"From the interest already shown and in prospect it seems that British Columbia will shortly have its potential oil-bearing land thoroughly explored," he continued. "Indications are that there is good chance of finding petroleum or natural gas in commercial quantities."

The minister compared details of B.C.'s regulations governing oil prospecting with those of Alberta and found the B.C. regulations compared favorably.

Mr. Kenney said the development of British Columbia's potential oil fields has not been slowed by regulations on prospecting and drilling but because the companies don't like the controls on oil once it comes into the province, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney contended in the Legislature Wednesday.

Nevertheless the minister reported that well over 2,000,000 acres were now held under prospecting permits.

"Of interest is the fact," he said, "that some considerable areas are being prospected by the Queen Charlotte Islands and lower mainland."

Legislative Debate Enters World Field

The Legislature was carried far afield on the wings of speechmaking Wednesday afternoon.

Carrying it farthest was Arthur Turner, C.C.F., Vancouver East, who spoke at length on Marshall Plan aid for Europe and socialism in Great Britain. When Mr. Turner suggested Britain had been slandered during the present session of the Legislature strong protests were voiced from government members.

Premier Byron Johnson suggested he himself had expressed only praise for the fine job the British were doing. He urged Mr. Turner to direct his remarks against persons rather than the Legislature.

Mr. Turner then said both Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald and Mrs. T. J. Rolston, Coalition, Vancouver-Point Grey, had both slandered Britain.

Both members rose to deny vigorously this charge and T. A. Love, deputy speaker, demanded Mr. Turner withdraw. Mr. Turner did but later suggested the statements had bordered on slandering the country with which B.C. wishes to increase trade.

Mr. Turner also said it was a good thing for the free enterprise countries of North America to help Europe, for free enterprise had bred the war which made the aid necessary.

While government members had lauded the Marshall plan, Mr. Turner agreed the original intentions of the system were good. But, he added, the United States had done all right by the plan since the U.S. had demanded that half the goods be shipped in U.S. ships, that steel from the Ruhr be provided in return and had made 75 per cent of the purchases uneconomically through private channels. Mr. Turner also said that increasing prices had reduced the value of loans by 40 per cent.

Minister Explains To Legislature B.C.'s Progressive Forest Policy

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney, defending B.C.'s forest management schemes, told the Legislature Wednesday afternoon. "British Columbia today has what is probably the most progressive forest policy in North America."

"It does not seek to produce the millennium overnight, and is deliberately designed to introduce forest management and sustained yield gradually, and with the least possible hardship for those who by force of circumstances have all their wealth and resources tied to a liquidation business," he said.

"It has been proven beyond doubt that bad housing is one of the main contributory causes to the social evils. All housing authorities agree on this."

The minister claimed critics of the plan had failed to put forward reasonable alternatives and quarreled with the fundamental and universally accepted principles of forest management, rather than with the specific plans put forward by the government.

Mr. Kenney repudiated a significant trend on the part of industry was away from the "export mill." He said high quality big timber in B.C. was on the way out and the province could not maintain its position on low quality small timber.

The raw material for a multitude of products, including textiles, plastics and explosives, while the by-products of the pulp mill in such items as alcohol, plastics and chemicals, in the course of time may very well outrun the value of the presently primary products."

Studies showed, he said, that in some operations wood left in the forests equalled 50 per cent of that taken out, and when the logs got to the sawmill another 20 per cent was turned into waste as sawdust, slabs and edgings.

In the development of pulp mills Mr. Kenney saw a part solution to B.C.'s forest management and wood supply problem.

"The four new mills, one operating and three building, will add an estimated 300,000 tons per year within the next three years," he said. "Pulp production in British Columbia in 1952 in all probability will touch 1,000,000 tons per year without further embarrassing the wood supply situation."

The minister noted that while pulp and paper mills experienced fluctuations they usually continued to operate through lean years as well as the profitable ones.

He warned the immediate market for lumber was neither as wide nor as profitable as B.C. has enjoyed in recent years.

"If . . . we hope to carry on at our present level of production, we must solve the problem of locating new markets to absorb the major portion of the 40 per cent which, in recent years, has been sold in the United Kingdom," he said.

While the local market would consume some of the poorer grades, this would not provide a permanent cure on the local market the price factor was important.

"With our production costs at their present high level, it is obvious," he said, "that we cannot produce even the lower grades at other than a high price and with buyers becoming increasingly critical and selective in their purchasing it seems that we must inevitably end up with our yards plugged with lower grades for which we cannot find a market."

The minister compared details of B.C.'s regulations governing oil prospecting with those of Alberta and found the B.C. regulations compared favorably.

HON. E. T. KENNEY

In this connection the pulp industry was deserving of special mention for improvements it has made in wood utilization, he said.

"The pulp mill will turn low value wood into high value products that are in ever-increasing demand world-wide," he said. "Dissolving pulp, cellulose, is

Still Unconscious Following Crash On Motorcycle

Royal Jubilee Hospital attendants today described as "only fair" the condition of David A. Williams, 20-year-old motorcyclist who was seriously injured in a collision Wednesday night. He was one of three persons taken to hospital following accidents here Wednesday.

Williams, who lives at 855 Fort Street, was still unconscious this morning with the most severe injuries suffered in an accident in the Victoria and district area this year.

Williams is reported by his physician to have suffered a fractured skull, upper jaw and nose and severe facial lacerations. Several of his teeth were knocked out.

City policemen took the injured man to hospital in the police ambulance.

Police attending the scene said Williams was riding north on Douglas when he was in collision with a car driven south on Douglas and turning to go east on Herald Street. The car was driven by Roy Claude Grainger, Agate Lane, Cordova Bay. The accident occurred at 9:15.

Earlier in the day, on East Saanich Road near Halliburton Road, cars driven by W. O. Corbett, 1180 Oliver Street, and J. Fooshee, 209 St. Lawrence Street, were in collision. Saanich police report, Mrs. Fooshee, a passenger in her husband's car, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital to be treated for bruises and shock.

Both cars were extensively damaged. The Fooshee car was turned over and the Corbett car continued on to end up against a pole.

Hammersmith South Polling Today Watched By All Britons

LONDON (CP)—Voters cast their ballots today in the by-election in Hammersmith South, climaxing one of London's hottest political campaigns since the 1945 general election.

Betting odds were about even in the contest to fill the seat in the Commons made vacant recently by the death of Labor member W. T. Adams. Labor and Conservative leaders considered it too close to speculate on the result.

Both parties watched the outcome closely as a tip-off to voting trends in the 1950 general election. The by-election results are expected to be announced Friday.

A grinning Winston Churchill, in as fine fettle as ever, Wednesday night made an eight-mile tour of the middle and working-class constituency in West London, and poured criticism on the Labor government with blistering campaign oratory.

Labor fought hard to retain the seat and climaxed its endeavors today with a parade through the streets. The most common opinion was: "It will be close, whoever wins."

Churchill Uses Loud-Speaker

Churchill, standing in an open automobile and holding a loudspeaker, boomed out his message to low rows of Victorian houses whose occupants leaned from windows. Along the streets the crowds were six deep.

With Churchill rode the Conservative candidate, Anthony Fell, 34-year-old Scottish-born engineer. Opposing Fell is Tom Williams, 33, a bespectacled miner's son who served as an R.A.F. chaplain during the war and who now is a history tutor at Oxford University.

Churchill, waving his famous wartime "V for Victory" greeting, headed an all-out drive to hand Labor its first by-election loss to the Conservatives since Prime Minister Attlee came to power. In 47 previous by-elections since 1945 the Conservatives failed to gain a parliamentary seat from Labor.

In the last general election Labor won Hammersmith South by a margin of 3,458. In 1935 the Conservatives won the seat by a margin of 6,068, and in 1931 by 19,628.

The equipment will be installed first in the province's nine general hospitals, which have more than 3,000 patients yearly.

Similar arrangements are being worked out in British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Ontario.

Walked Eight Miles Through Snow; Died

YAKIMA (AP)—Henry Deason, 23-year-old Yakima student pilot whose body was found Wednesday by search crews, died Monday of shock and exposure after a courageous walk eight miles through snow from the wreckage of his crash-landed plane.

Trackers landed by helicopter at the wreck scene 20 miles west of Yakima found the body lying in the snow, after following Deason's trail over rough terrain.

Dr. F. J. Lemon, county coroner, said exposure and shock were believed the causes of death. The story of Deason's struggle was written in those eight miles of snow-covered ridges and gullies.

Carl Brady, helicopter pilot, said Deason had a badly-fractured ankle from which a broken bone protruded, and severe head injuries.

Indications along the trail Deason had apparently stumbled into a fence, were that he may have been partially blinded.

He had been the object of a ground and air search since Sunday.

Pearson Praises Bunche's Efforts

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson today described the Egyptian-Israeli armistice as something to be "chalked up on the credit side" of the United Nations.

He said also the successful negotiations were "a great personal achievement" for the American Negro, Ralph Bunche, who stepped into the role of mediator after the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte last summer.

"If the United Nations had searched all over the world for a successor to Count Bernadotte I don't believe it would have found a better man than Ralph Bunche," the minister said.

Dr. Bunche, a former U.S. State Department official, was attached to the United Nations trusteeship division when assigned to the Palestine mediation mission.

U.S. To Spend $161,000,000 On Radar Protection Screen

WASHINGTON (CP)—The armed services committee of the House of representatives unanimously approved Wednesday a bill to authorize building a $161,000,000 radar warning screen as protection against sneak air attacks on the United States.

Chairman Carl Vinson (Dem.-Ga.) said all necessary agreements with the Canadian government had been reached.

The committee also approved a bill to give the armed services $75,000,000 to establish a 3,000-mile range for testing vastly improved "robot" missiles.

In connection with the radar warning plans, it was recalled that Prime Minister St. Laurent said in Washington 10 days ago that plans had been prepared by persons making preliminary studies involving a radar network across the northern part of Canada.

Military and scientific witnesses have told Congress guided missiles with a horizontal range of 300 miles will be ready for improved "robot" missiles.

CITY AND THE SALES TAX

TO HIS EARLIER EXPRESSION OF opinion that this year will see a substantial rise in the mill rate, Mayor Percy George has now added facts and figures indicative of the size of the probable increase as the result of higher costs of services—particularly those connected with education. On the basis of draft estimates His Worship suggests that only seven economies and a substantial allocation of sales tax funds, over and above original estimates, can avert an increase of 12 mills. This, it may be assumed, is an outside figure. By the time the council has gone through its tentative votes, the gap between foreseeable revenue and inescapable expenditure will have narrowed appreciably. At the same time, indications are that Victoria has scant hope of holding the tax rate at the 45¢ mills set last year.

The explanation for this condition is obvious. Wages have gone up. Costs of providing services, and of supplying improvements and repairs to existing physical assets have risen. A growing population, long denied development, requires major civic expenditure to meet its needs—and at this a time when the city's dollar, like that of the individual, buys less than it ever did before.

Under these circumstances it is of primary significance that hopes of escaping the full burden of mounting taxation on real estate rest, in the mayor's opinion, on the probability of a far greater return from the sales tax than the city had dared to anticipate. Yet this is the tax which some pundits would have us believe is "100 per cent" repugnant to our people. This is the tax for which the government is so severely criticized—the tax which has returned such gratifying sums that it has been attacked on the grounds of bad estimating. On the proceeds from its share of that levy the city may be able to afford relief to the property owner. And, by the same token, the provincial government, which is also faced by mounting costs for virtually all its activities, can by means of it expect to meet some of the costs of its ambitious development program.

No tax, of course, is popular with those who have to pay it. But it might be wise for those who seek to make political capital out of this particular impost to delve a little below the skin of party prejudice to see its merits as well as its annoyances before delivering themselves of their concentrated spleen against the sales tax.

GOOD DRIVING—BAD ROADS

IT HAS BEEN A NOTEWORTHY feature of the recent bad weather (we trust the adjective "recent" is warranted) that difficult road conditions have not resulted in the expected toll of traffic accidents. Motorists and pedestrians, with a full consciousness of the situation, have exercised extra care and succeeded in avoiding much of the trouble that could have occurred. There have, of course, been a number of accidents due to skidding on icy surfaces and other similar causes, but nothing in proportion to the increased hazards that have been present. The question arises, then, that if such a record can be set under such difficult circumstances, why cannot the good work be continued with the coming of warm weather and improved driving conditions? The problem appears to be psychological rather than material, and perhaps therefore more difficult to solve. But a solution should be found. Man should not allow himself to be branded as the worst road hazard.

THEY WON'T PLAY

THE SUDDEN WITHDRAWAL OF THE Soviet Union—along with White Russia and the Ukraine—from the World Health Organization of the United Nations has posed another of those unpredictable and unexplainable problems with which Russia so frequently astonishes the rest of the world. W.H.O., as the organization is known to the remaining 55 member nations, is concerned with the strengthening of national health administrations, the control of epidemics, the provision of maternity and child care and other similar aims. In 1947, for example, a cholera outbreak in Egypt was halted when this U.N. group was instrumental in rushing 32 tons of supplies to the plague area by air. Its objectives are entirely altruistic, its methods open and its programs laudable. But this did not satisfy the Russians.

The Soviet note of withdrawal, which was identical with those of the two lesser members, complained that the work of the organization was "not being accomplished satisfactorily." And it added that the expenses involved were too heavy a burden for member states. Russia it may be pointed out, was listed to supply only $300,000 of the organization's $5,000,000 budget for 1949. As to the achievements of W.H.O. it must not be forgotten that it is only just emerging from the organizational period that started in 1948. The 1950 program, as outlined by Dr. Brock Chisholm, the Canadian who is director-general of the agency, provides for large-scale assistance to countries throughout the world—services of a nature which should attract the support of all nations. The Russian criticism of achievements would seem to be knowingly premature.

It is not the first time the Soviet Union has walked out of an international group that is seeking to solve the world's ills. And her refusal to join other U.N. subsidiaries—notably the world trade organization and the so-called Little Assembly—have been equally pointed. Such surly and uncooperative gestures do little to advance the peace and goodwill of the world to which Russia claims so frequently to be devoted. It is a case of the actions speaking much more loudly than the words—a fact which should be remembered by those who are occasionally prevailed upon to provide an audience for Communist apologists.

COAST GUARD AGAIN

ONCE AGAIN MEMBERS OF THE Legislature have urged the Provincial government to renew its request to Ottawa for the establishment of a Coast Guard. Arguments in favor of the step have come from both sides of the House and reflect a non-partisan approach to an issue of concern to all seaboard peoples who derive their living in whole or in part from maritime activities. They want, and they are entitled to press their claims for, a branch of the Dominion service which could be of immeasurable assistance in reducing the hazards of fishermen and others, particularly operators of small craft, who contribute in no small degree to the economic welfare of this nation.

Recognition of the need for such rescue facilities is revealed in the Air Force, Navy and Provincial Police combination which has rendered assistance to vessels in distress on several occasions in the waters off the southern end of Vancouver Island. Further north Canadians have frequently found it necessary to call upon the benevolence of the United States Coast Guard to perform the humanitarian duties for which Canada should have its own department.

Full appreciation will be given to the fact that a Coast Guard requires stout ships and experienced men to handle them. It will also be admitted that a branch which operated solely as a rescue group would entail an expense of no small dimensions. On the other hand, it does seem logical that certain existing federal marine services might be so reorganized that they could co-ordinate in forming the equivalent of a Coast Guard without too severe interruption in their regular schedules. Were that done, Coast Guard duties would assume priority when human life was in jeopardy.

In view of the increasing importance assumed by our fisheries in Canada's economic life, extension of more adequate protection to those who take the necessary risks on the seas seems little enough to expect from the Dominion government.

HE DESERVES A REST

AFTER THREE YEARS OF CONTINUOUS and exacting work as Great Britain's delegate to the United Nations, and the only member of the Security Council who was his country's accredited representative to the conclaves of the old League of Nations in Geneva, Sir Alexander Cadogan will leave Lake Success this week for a rest in California. All his friends will hope he will find sunshine in the southern section of the Golden State.

It is fitting to pay a tribute to the man who has been obliged to travel down the murky alley of international slime which might easily have been made more pleasant had successive representatives of the Soviet Union on the Security Council received different instructions from Moscow. These might have contributed much toward that global understanding envisioned in the Charter of the United Nations which bears the signatures of delegates from the vast land mass which is the U.S.S.R. But they were not forthcoming. It has suited the Kremlin to keep the whole world on tenterhooks.

Neither Mr. Gromyko, his successor on the Security Council, nor any other member of this important eleven-member agency of the United Nations can charge Sir Alexander with either word or deed in conflict with his country's desire for mutual understanding and universal peace. But those who have seen Britain's representative in action at close range, at the original conference in San Francisco and subsequently at Hunter College in the Bronx and Lake Success, will wish this distinguished diplomat a restful holiday and a return to his important duties with renewed vigor.

ADDED ASSET

WITH NEWFOUNDLAND'S ENTRY into Confederation, Canada will take over two large air bases at Gander and Goose Bay and will thereby be placed in a position in which air traffic concessions may be obtained from other countries. Half-a-dozen nations use facilities at Gander for their airlines, and once this area becomes Canadian territory, the Dominion should be enabled to bargain for similar concessions abroad. Canada already has invested more than $30,000,000 in the Gander airport—the war saw a tremendous development of the previously almost unknown site. One of the benefits to be derived from acceptance of Newfoundland as a tenth province will be an improved opportunity to "cash in" on the expenditure.

Capitol Notes

By PETER EDSON from Washington

THE CAPITAL SCRAMBLE to take credit for having thought up "point four" in President Truman's inaugural address has been highly amusing. Secretary of State Dean Acheson is about the only figure of importance who has admitted he had nothing to do with originating this idea for furnishing American "know-how" to underdeveloped countries. But recently Herbert Schimmel, former staff assistant to the Senate Military Affairs Committee, came across a file copy of an old but pertinent paper. It was a joint Senate resolution to promote international economic collaboration through the interchange of technical information, more effective use of natural resources, and so on. It had been presented to the Senate in 1944. It was referred to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, where it died. One of the three senators who introduced it was a fellow from Missouri named Harry S. Truman.

When Herbert Hoover appeared before the Senate Committee on Executive Expenditures to support the government reorganization bills, all the senators praised the ex-President for the great job his commission had done. Democrats were even more lavish in their praise than Republicans. Sen. Glen Taylor of Idaho, Progressive Party vice-presidential candidate, was most lavish of all. "During the last campaign I said some very unkind things about you, and I'm very sorry I said them," Taylor confessed. Hoover just nodded.

R EPUBLICAN CONGRESSMAN Leslie C. Arends of Melvin, Ill., is a proud member of the SPEBSQSA. It stands for Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. The other day SPEBSQSA Arends made a short speech on the floor of the House to boast of another objective of this organization. It is sponsoring a contest to write a peacetime song to promote U.S. Savings Bond sales. Two thousand barber shop quartettes have volunteered to sing this song at bond rallies, after it gets written.

The construction industry now estimates that one out of every 17 married couples is still living "doubled-up" with another person. At peak of the housing shortage in 1947, it was one out of every 12 families doubled-up.

NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL Association, in announcing its summer educational tours for school teachers, listed itineraries covering every place from Quebec and the Canadian Rockies, to New England, the eastern big cities, the American west, Cuba, and Mexico. On the Mexican tour, a bull fight is listed as one of the attractions, but it is explained that tickets for this will be extra.

Aviation Research Institute of Washington has made a new report on Russian commercial airline operations. Aeroflot, the Russian government airline, schedules 114 flights to and from Moscow during the peak of the summer travel season. By comparison, Washington National Airport scheduled an average of 323 daily flights during August. Russian passenger flights are largely restricted to daytime operations. Even on the 4,300-mile flight from Moscow to Khabarovsk, Siberia, the schedule calls for two overnight stops. This is one of the few routes on which four-engine planes are flown.

FOUR BLOODED JERSEY dairy cows have been shipped from the U.S. to India for cross-breeding with zebras. They are in exchange for two zebra bulls and two zebra calves sent to this country in 1946. Idea behind this "sacred cow" exchange is to produce a new strain that will increase India's milk supply and still be able to withstand India's tropical heat. While this kind of international exchange makes considerable sense, another announcement of the week in this general field of "cultural cooperation" has more of a boondoggling aspect. It was a United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization $20,000 contract with the International Theatre Institute to promote international exchange of knowledge and practice in the theatre arts.

Banks On Wheels

U.K. Information Office

MOBILE BANKS are becoming increasingly important among products of the United Kingdom caravan industry. Five of the big banks now use them—Westminster, Lloyds, Midland, National Provincial and Martins. These caravan banks are used at present chiefly for agricultural shows, exhibitions and other events at which temporary banking facilities are needed. Another and growing use is however, the replacement of small branch offices in rural areas. In many such areas banks open once weekly but the buildings being permanent are thus largely wasted. One mobile bank can replace several branch buildings of this kind, thus freeing the buildings for more effective use.

Open Up Or Shut Up!

Sweden's Gamble Seems Unfair

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

AS THE efforts to form a North Atlantic defence alliance go on, it develops that the choice between hanging together and hanging separately is not as easy as it sounds. Already two important snags have been struck, one in the United States and the other in Scandinavia.

The American difficulty is simply this: the Constitution reserves to Congress the right to declare war. Thus the U.S. government cannot sign a treaty which guarantees in advance to give military aid to another signer if the latter is attacked. At their word. They took refuge in their weakness or their good intentions until the blow was struck.

So, in 1914, Germany attacked a small and almost defenceless Belgium. In 1939 Germany attacked an isolated, deserted Poland after the bloodless seizure of Czechoslovakia the year before. Czechoslovakia, it now appears, could have been saved by a strong Franco-British stand. Poland might have survived the Nazi blitzkrieg if its allies had not abandoned both will and obligation for a policy of appeasement.

Sweden wants to cling to its traditional neutrality through a three-power Scandinavian treaty. It wants arms from the United States, but with no commitments to help other countries. Theoretically, it also wants help from outsiders if Russia should attack any of the Scandinavian countries.

In other words, Sweden wants to take the great gamble of doing virtually nothing in the hope that nothing will happen. This fatal risk has been taken in two world wars. Its consequences were overcome at the near-fatal cost of a continent's exhaustion.

AT THEIR WORD

Twice in this century Germany's neighbors have taken the German leaders at their word. They took refuge in their weakness or their good intentions until the blow was struck. The disagreement in Scandinavia, however, is more basic. Norway wants to cast its lot with the alliance. This is understandable. If Norway had had a firm, well-planned assistance agreement with Britain in 1940, Germany might not have invaded Poland. Nazi blitzkrieg if its allies had not abandoned both will and obligation for a policy of appeasement.

Sweden has two arguments in favor of its gamble. One is that it was able to stay neutral in two world wars. The other is that Russia might be provoked into massing troops opposite Sweden, under the Soviet mutual-aid pact with Finland. If Sweden joined the Atlantic alliance.

It seems most unlikely that Hitler left Sweden alone through any pious regard for neutrality. Sweden was economically, geographically and diplomatically useful to the Nazis as a neutral. It also seems unlikely that any gesture of strict neutrality could save Scandinavia if the Soviets considered it useful to occupy the peninsula.

So even if the United States should sell Scandinavia arms on a long-term loan basis, it promises little security. Three countries with a total population of 15,000,000 would be in no position to impede their colossal neighbor to the east—whose government is scarcely more tender-hearted or trustworthy than Hitler—if Russia should move in.

WOULD NOT USE

Under the circumstances, Sweden seems unfair to Scandinavia as well as to the rest of free Europe when it asks America to divert to a proposed Scandinavian alliance a share of scarce arms which Sweden would refuse to use in the common defense of Europe's freedom.

Is Citizenship Our Weakness?

G E N. OMAR N. BRADLEY, in community and national welfare. He scores blind self-interest above country, over-dependence on the national government, and "citizenship by the dollar sign." He says: "Too many of us have accepted the dangerous illusion that we can buy off our responsibilities as citizens in payment of taxes" or by private donations.

"Probably the greatest cause for delinquency in citizenship," he writes, "can be traced to our declining sense of responsibility in the home, the church, the school and the community in which we live.

DRAMATIC CONTEST

"We are engaged in a contest today over the integrity of the individual versus the integrity of the state. It is a contest as startlingly dramatic as the air lift into Berlin, as obscurely insignificant as the attitudes of a single man. It is a contest in which ideas are as important as the atom bomb. It can conceivably last to the end of our life."

"Our danger lies not so much in a fifth column whose enmity is avowed. It lies in a first column of well-meaning citizens who are 100 per cent patriotic in their daily protestations and 10 per cent citizens in their daily routine of neglect."

Neglect at the roots, he adds, accounts for "political immaturity, economic ignorance, philosophical indifference and spiritual insolence" of many of our youth. But he squarely blames the adults. The World War II generation worships economic security above all else, he finds, because in depression and in war they were victims of default by their parents. The postwar generation is plainly undisciplined, jealously aware of rights but not of responsibilities, mercenary and antagonistic to authority, psychologists tell him.

What is needed among adults and young alike, this top soldier says, is some old-fashioned willingness "to do the chores"—a sense of responsibility in one's daily round of little jobs.

ONLY BY DEFAULT

"At the time when peoples throughout the world are being courted by an aggressive state that would have them abdicate their personal share in government and entrust their welfare to rule by clique, the people must put their faith in not less—but more—personal responsibility in the affairs of their community and nation. A democracy such as ours cannot be defeated in this struggle; it can only lose by default."

Out With It

Ottawa Citizen

Prime Minister St. Laurent made a fair suggestion when he said the country was entitled to know what the real attitude of the Progressive Conservative Party is on defence. With world peace still so precarious, no issue is more important. If the Opposition believes Canada can remain neutral in the event of another war, and if it feels that a North Atlantic alliance is unnecessary, it should make its attitude clear as soon as possible.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

THE FEARS expressed by Brazilian industrial and agricultural leaders over the future of their world markets sent your correspondent on a sleuthing expedition to see what justification there is for this anxiety.

As previously reported in this column, a conference of these worried leaders is being held this week in the great market city of Sao Paulo. They base their concern on the projected intensive development of African possessions by Britain in particular and by other European colonial powers in general. Mario Penteado, economic expert, warns that every crop vital to Brazil will be grown in Africa.

Of course Britain isn't hiding her light under a bushel. Her project for developing her rich African areas has been well advertised. It involves a double-barreled idea: To put Britain on her feet economically, and to rehabilitate her empire.

APPROVES SPENDING

Apropos of this, the economic co-operation administration announced in Washington yesterday that it had approved the spending of $1,500,000 in Marshall-plan funds to expedite a long-range development program in British colonies.

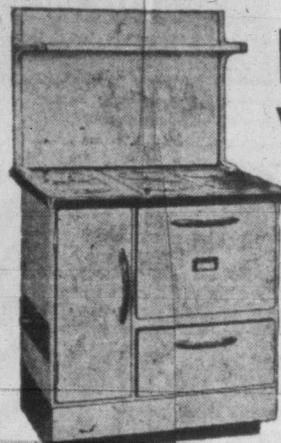

Brazil—and many other countries for that matter—are facing a reorientation of British trade, as the signs read.

Britain is no longer a creditor—she is a debtor. She must balance her accounts, and in order to do that she must buy her supplies in areas where she can use sterling. She no longer has "hard currency," such as American money, with which to buy where she pleases. The same is true of most European countries.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, says the advancement of the colonial people and the recovery of Britain are in fact one problem. He pins the position down like this:

"The economies of western Europe and tropical Africa are so closely interlocked in mutual trade, in the supply of capital, and in currency systems that their problems of overseas balance are essentially one... The further development of African resources is of the same crucial importance to the rehabilitation and strengthening of

Ex-Prime Minister Gets Many Letters

OTTAWA (CP) — Former Prime Minister King, who stepped down from the Liberal Party leadership last fall, still has so much correspondence to deal with that it's interfering with the writing of his memoirs.

In an interview, he reiterated his intention to retire from public life when the present House of Commons is dissolved. He has been 33 years a parliamentarian. "I find today that the roots of those years in office seem more deeply embedded than I thought," said the 74-year-old Mr. King, who now sits as member for Glencarry, Ont. "My correspondence... is still as heavy as ever, so now I don't know when I will get around to writing the book I have promised myself for so long."

Eastern players have developed a series of responses to the two bid as follows: With two aces, bid four no trump over your partner's two bid; with only one ace, bid the suit headed by the ace; without an ace, but holding a trick and a half consisting of either three kings or king-queen of one suit and king of another, bid three no trump. If you have none of these holdings, but do have four trumps and a singleton, or a king and one, jump to four of your partner's suit.

Today's hand is an example of bidding employing this convention. The two spade bid by South is a game demand bid. North's bid of four no trump simply shows two aces.

South is pretty sure then that they are going for a slam, and his five heart bid is definitely a slam try. North jumps to six spades to indicate that in addition to the two aces he has a good spade suit. Thus it is easy

New Land Gets First Call On $3,000,000 Water Fund

OTTAWA (CP) — By a strange use of devices, the National Film Board has turned the Peace Tower's hefty 53-bell carillon into an orchestral instrument.

A microphone, perched on the roof of the House of Commons, telephones, sound engineers, and the Dominion carillonneur, Robert Donnell, all recently aided in the orchestral debut of the powerful musical bells.

The bells were needed, says N.F.B., to play a prominent part in the original music score for the color production "A Capital Plan," to be released shortly to Canadian theatres in the "Canada Carries On" series.

The film deals with the Greber plan for the extension and beautification of the capital.

"Naturally it was impossible for the carillon, with one of its bells weighing 12 tons, to come to the recording studio," says the Film Board. At the same time it wasn't feasible to locate the orchestra near the carillon, on snow-bound Parliament Hill.

Sound engineers decided their only recourse was to record the bells and then transfer the recording to a film sound track, marked with audible cues for the benefit of the orchestra conductor, J. Eugene Kash, the Film Board's director of music.

Then the recording was to be transferred back to the orchestra to play back as the orchestra recorded its part of the score.

Once more it was to be transferred and blended with the recording of the orchestra's music for the final sound track as it will be heard in theatres.

He emphasized that the province's increased population demanded a proportional increase in productive acreage. While the population of the Okanagan Valley had increased by 40 per cent the productive acreage had increased by only 11 per cent, he said.

This policy was outlined in the Legislature Wednesday by Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney. It had been announced previously the Provincial government this year proposes to add $2,000,000 to the existing $1,000,000 available for irrigation development.

Mr. Kenney suggested the need for further development of irrigation was indicated in the fact that B.C. imported $50,000,000 worth of foods products annually to feed its increasing population. He noted, however, this was not a net outlay, for the province also exported large quantities of agricultural products.

While there were 160,000 acres under irrigation and they produced $50,000,000 worth of products annually, surveys showed, the minister said, there may be upwards of 275,000 acres in the province, capable of being irrigated "but at costs higher than existing irrigated lands."

The 3,400 acres were being developed under the Veterans' Land Act by the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, he said, while it was proposed that the Dominion, province and land owners would share equally the cost of irrigating 35,000 acres under consideration.

To Increase Fee For Adoption Of Babies

WINNIPEG (CP) — Welfare Minister Ivan Schultz said in the Manitoba Legislature Wednesday, that noted welfare authorities, including Dr. Charlotte Whitton, considered the province's adoption procedure "a model."

The House gave second reading to a bill to amend the Child Welfare Act after Mr. Schultz had explained the measure would authorize the framing of regulations covering charges for adoptions.

The demand for adoptable babies was greater than the supply. Considerable investigation was necessary to ensure that children were placed in homes of the right types. A fee of $7 now was payable upon completion of the procedure and the issuing of an adoption order.

While the setting of a higher fee had been left to the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, it had been suggested this charge should be $25, Mr. Schultz said. It could be waived or reduced in special circumstances.

Back To Cologne

Cologne (Reuter)—A party of 40 Cologne children returned Wednesday after spending 2½ years in Ireland. They were the first to return of about 350 children taken to Ireland to regain their health and strength.

Commons Debates Trade; Taxation Health Program Progress Reported

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's trade and taxation policies drew opposition fire in the Commons Wednesday after members had heard a lengthy, detailed report on the progress of the national health program.

Hon. Earl Rowe, minister with out portfolio in the last Conservative government and now member for the Ontario constituency of Dufferin-Simcoe, criticized trade and taxation policies and blamed Agriculture Minister Gardiner for the "loss" of food markets in the United Kingdom.

The health report was made by Health Minister Martin. He outlined what is being done and what will be done with the $30,000,000 voted by Parliament last session to assist the provinces with the development of their health services.

Projects qualifying for aid under the program now are flowing into Ottawa at the rate of $200,000 a day, said Mr. Martin. Some 600 projects costing $13,000,000 had been approved since last August.

NATION-WIDE PLANS
The government, he said, considered its grants for provincial health survey, to extend health services and projects and to build hospitals, "fundamental prerequisites of a nation-wide system of health insurance."

Mr. Martin said federal assistance would be authorized before March 31 to provide for a total of 13,000 more hospital beds, nearly one-third of a five-year target. By that date at least four provinces, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Alberta and British Columbia, would have been given their full share of the total $13,000,000 allocation for hospital construction.

He said the Canadian program of federal health grants is twice as much on a per capita basis as its United States counterpart.

IRRIGATION SCHEMES

Only other speaker at the abbreviated mid-week sitting was W. D. Wylie (S.C. Medicine Hat), who said the time had come for the government to provide money needed to complete irrigation projects in Alberta and Saskatchewan. He also called for lower taxes, increased old age pensions and assistance for the disabled.

Finance Minister Abbott said he could not forecast when the next relaxation will be made in restrictions on imports.

Prime Minister St. Laurent promised to consider the possibility of a government statement on ways and means of increasing the flow of United Kingdom goods to Canada.

In the debate, Mr. Rowe said Canada is not accepting enough imports from the United Kingdom. As a result Britain was turning to trade with countries which would buy her goods or enter barter arrangements.

"I have never seen such a fiasco as was made of our negotiations with the United Kingdom," said Mr. Rowe.

TRADE AGREEMENTS

Mr. Gardiner had tried to blame the drop in exports to the United Kingdom on the Empire trade agreements signed by the Conservative government in 1932, he said. Under those agreements Canada was sending a greater percentage of her products overseas than at present.

Mr. Gardiner had not only lost the U.K. markets, but he had also caused Canadian farmers to lose between $350,000,000 and $500,000,000 in the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement, he said.

If the loss was necessary, it should have been borne by the people of all Canada and not just the farmers, said Mr. Rowe.

First Record Of Pre-Historic Elephant Dug Up In Gravel Pit At Shawnigan Lake

Remains of a prehistoric mastodon, a relative of the elephant which lived in North America 200,000 years ago and earlier have been unearthed in a gravel pit at Shawnigan Lake.

Provincial Museum authorities said today it was the first time a discovery of this kind had been brought to light on Vancouver Island.

A large-size tooth identified as belonging to a mastodon was turned in to the museum by Les Smith of Shawnigan Lake.

Mr. Smith reported that other bones of like nature were dug up at the spot, but were carried away by gravel-filled trucks before anyone became aware of the nature of the discovery.

WATCHING FOR MORE

The gravel pit is now being closely watched in case workers dig up more specimens.

A. E. Pickford, an expert in palaeolithic science, said the bones were deposited there during the ice age when the great glacier began to melt long before the dawn of history.

He said the discovery was important as it proved that the mastodon lived somewhere definitely north of the particular spot. Remains of mastodons were rarely found in North America, he said. However, bones of mammoths, an animal similar to the mastodon, were frequently being found in the Yukon and British Columbia.

NEARLY MISSED

The discovery at Shawnigan Lake nearly went unnoticed, according to Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum. Mr. Smith picked up the molar out of curiosity and sent it to the museum only when advised that the find might be of scientific interest.

The mastodon closely resembled the present-day elephant and had similar tusks and trunk, but was lower and longer in proportion. The construction of the mastodon's teeth reveal that he was a forest elephant and fed on bushes and leaves of trees.

The mastodon appears to have been able to survive longer than the hairy mammoth which hung around the receding glacier feeding on the lush vegetation.

The teeth are composed of low crests and nipple-like cones, and are not of the grazing type, composed of high, flattened plates as in the mammoths or elephants.

Science has never been able to discover why these animals went out of existence. There is evidence that they were plentiful in Siberia where remains of both mammoths and mastodons have been found in large quantities.

Some scientists hold that these two species of elephants sprang from Siberia or Northern Asia and slowly wandered to North America by way of the Bering Straits which then was a land-covered area.

SOURCES OF FOOD SUPPLY

Prehistoric man is believed to have followed these herds of mammoths and mastodons as source of food supply. The discovery in Siberia of a trap identified as one used by paleolithic man seems to bear this out.

If a similar trap could be found in North America, it would be strong evidence that the first man to inhabit this continent came by the way of Siberia on the heels of the prehistoric elephants.

The link, however, is still missing.

Minor Easing Of Rental Regulations

OTTAWA (CP) — The Prices Board Wednesday announced another minor easing of rental regulations.

It gives its commissioners power to deal with cases in which housing accommodation is operated as a rooming house.

An official said the order meant roomers by a tenant who does not live in such houses would change landlords.

In effect, the new order will allow a landlord to take over himself a house of his which someone else, while not actually living in the house, operates as a rooming house.

As for the tenant-operation, the board said he "actually operates a rooming house business at arm's length and cannot claim to need the protection of rental regulations to preserve a roof over his head."

Chicks—And Foster Daddy

A visitor to the U.S. Naval Hospital at Houston, Tex., saw ex-Navy Coxswain Harold Duggar perspiring from a heat-treatment machine on his leg and remarked the machine resembled a chicken brooder. Harold thought it over, and hatched four chicks in his bed after 21 days. Two are shown in the picture, along with the "brooder."

about this Swans Down Spice Cake

CAKE TALK
Frances Barton

Today I'd like to give you two little hints that will help you quite a lot in making better cakes, every time you bake.

The first I learned a long time ago, from a professional baker—and I've found that women like very much the results they get when they follow this suggestion. It's one of those simple little things that makes a difference—just the master of having all ingredients at the same temperature before you start combining your cake.

If you are making a butter-type cake, take the butter or shortening . . . the eggs . . . and the milk . . . from the refrigerator, an hour before you start to make your cake. For angel sponge cakes, it's only the eggs that you must remember to bring from your refrigerator an hour or so of ahead of mixing.

Try this next time you make a cake. Your ingredients will blend better, give evener, finer texture in both crumb and crumb . . . the eggs will beat up lighter, to give better volume. And the improved texture will help your cake to taste good longer.

Now for my second cake-making suggestion. When your recipe calls for eggs by number, it's best to use eggs of average size. But if the eggs you have on hand happen to be very small or unusually large, allow about 3½ tablespoonsfuls of slightly mixed whole egg for each egg called for. Seems like a little thing, but it can make a difference in the moistness and deliciousness of your cake.

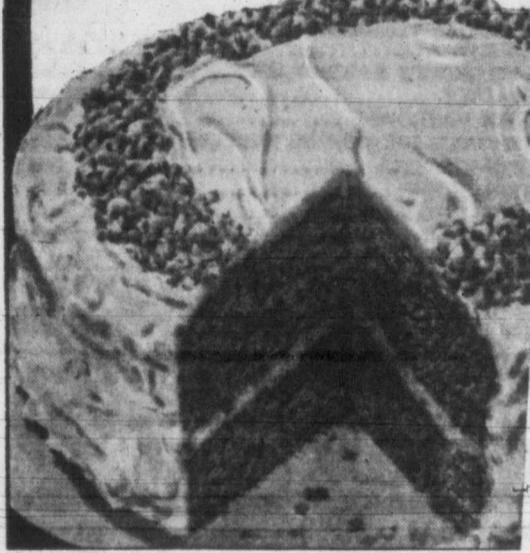

Why not make the Spice Cake at the left, and follow those little baking tips? You'll really love my Spice Cake.

Objectively Speaking A Feminine Slant On The Legislature

By ELIZABETH FORBES

The old adage that a woman always has the last word, was well exemplified on the floor of the Legislature yesterday afternoon, where, for 45 minutes by the big round clock that ticks off time from the wall opposite Mr. Speaker's chair, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., exchanged verbal punches with members of the opposition and not only got in the last word but proved that a woman can "take it" and still continue a line of thought to its proper conclusion.

"Nancy" finished her speech as she intended it—and even her most vociferous opponents ended up with rather sheepish looks of admiration instead of anticipatory grins on their faces and all joined in the desk thumping that passed for applause in the Legislature.

Mrs. Hodges was wearing, for the battle, a black afternoon dress of fine wool crepe, smartly but plainly styled, with carmine red buttons on the bodice and a draped side pocket, lined with the same bright red. As is the custom of both women members, she wore no hat.

Her decorations were a necklace of pearls and three long-stemmed red rosebuds pinned at the waist.

As she took her place at her desk, the first rosebud broke and rolled under her chair. Relieved, it found its way into the lapel of Dr. J. J. Gillis, seated at her left. The second bud broke in the heat of the verbal barrage, rolled under the desk and was forgotten.

The third bud weathered the storm and still nodded gallily as Mrs. Hodges received congratulations at the end of the afternoon.

THINGS I SAW AND HEARD

The three sharp rings of Mr. Speaker's buzzer-like bell, which sounds in members' rooms, call them to their desks for challenges and counter-challenges were all jumbled together.

No one was bored. No one fell asleep. Everyone seemed to have good time.

"Nancy" finished her speech as she intended it—and even her most vociferous opponents ended up with rather sheepish looks of admiration instead of anticipatory grins on their faces and all joined in the desk thumping that passed for applause in the Legislature.

They let "Nancy" get well into her speech. Even signified approval of one or two small points with subdued bangings on their respective desks.

When they were sure she was not to be lulled by smiles or desk thumpings into a moment of forgetfulness or false assurance, they changed their tactics.

They flung questions, appealed to Mr. Speaker, produced pamphlets.

They groaned, they laughed, and when one member took out a handkerchief, I thought they might even be going to cry.

Harold Winch, Leader of the Opposition, his able lieutenant, Herbert Gagrave, and every member of the opposition had a word in it.

The galleries were right if they thought it started when Mrs. Hodges introduced the word Saskatchewan into her speech.

But before the verbal fireworks finished, Saskatchewan, British Columbia, auto insurance, pink slips, yellow posters, ing them to their desks for challenges and counter-challenges were all jumbled together.

No one was bored. No one fell asleep. Everyone seemed to have good time.

Diseases Threaten Canada's Oats Crops

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two new dangerous cereal diseases have appeared recently in Canada and may cause serious damage to the country's crops, members of the National Research

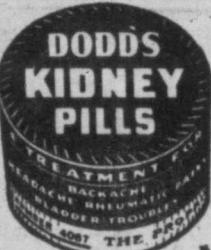

Council's associate committee on plant diseases were warned Wednesday.

The diseases are a blight of oats called "helminthosporium," and "dwarf bunt," a smut disease of winter wheat.

The blight of oats was unknown on this continent until 1944, but is said to have virtually eliminated many varieties of oats in the United States. Two Winnipeg scientists, Dr. J. E. Machacek and J. N. Walsh, told the committee efforts are being made to develop rust-resistant varieties of oats that also would be resistant to the dangerous blight.

W. R. Foster of the British Columbia department of agriculture said traces of "dwarf bunt" had been found in his province last year. Previously it was unknown in Canada.

'Paradine Case' Opens At Royal

There are certain artists whose outstanding talents complement each other so thoroughly, so symphonically, that the combination of their skills invariably produces an extraordinary result. One of these combinations is that of David O. Selznick and Alfred Hitchcock.

He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by city policemen who attended the scene of the fire.

ATLAS THEATRE

A power-packed expose based on authentic cases from Treasury Department files is "T-Men," which is currently at the Atlas Theatre. Dennis O'Keefe is starred in a tough and virile role as a T-Man, which is short for Treasury Man.

The supporting cast is headed by Mary Meade, attractive film-newcomer; Alfred Ryder, New York stage actor; Wally Ford, screen veteran character player; June Lockhart, current hit of the Broadway stage and star of "The Yearling"; and Charles McGraw, of "Killers" fame.

The players include Gregory Peck, Ann Todd, Charles Laughton, Charles Coburn, Ethel Barrymore and the successful new Selznick stars, Louis Jourdan and Valli.

"The Paradise Case" is an event of noteworthy cinematic importance.

VICTORIA AUDIENCES ACCLAIM IT AS ONE OF THE MOST DARING ADVENTURES EVER LIVED... OR FILMED!

ATLAS THEATRE

Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour are teamed for the seventh time in Paramount's new comedy release, "My Favorite Brunette," which opens at the Oak Bay Theatre today.

In "My Favorite Brunette," Hope, who plays a private eye with cold feet, for a great change, has no rival for the affection of Miss Lamour, and he certainly makes the most of it.

CAPITOL THEATRE

PIPS STOLEN

United Cigar Store, located in the Yates and Douglas Street premises of Cunningham's Drug Stores, reported to police that five pipes worth $2 each were stolen from the counter by someone Tuesday. Police were also informed there had been previous pipe thefts from the cigar stand.

REPORTS PURSE STOLEN

Mrs. Dorothy Olson, 3107 Quadra Street, reported to city police that her purse containing $16 and personal effects, was stolen during her visit to a downtown hotel room Tuesday night. Police checked and found that the man registered for the room had come in with no baggage and had left with none.

Plan Vast Radar Warning System For Canada And U.S.

Congress is considering a U.S. Air Force proposal for a joint U.S.-Canada radar network to warn against the approach of hostile aircraft. The U.S. share of the cost would be $161,000,000. While warning that the system will not provide anything like an "airtight" radar fence, the air force said it would provide warning of planes up to 300 miles away—sufficient to enable the air force to prepare a defense. The map above illustrates one plan for such a radar network as urged recently by F. H. Lack, chairman of the radio industry's mobilization committee, in the magazine Mechanix Illustrated. The radar stations would be in touch with the central control post (inset) by television.

'Smugglers' Cove' Stars Bowery Boys

Plenty of laughs echoed amongst the enthusiastic audience at the Plaza Theatre today, when Monogram's "Smugglers' Cove" had its first showing. Starring Leo Gorcey with the rowdy Bowery boys, this is the kind of comedy-drama that is guaranteed to cure the blues, as the lad get in and out of hilarious complications when they take over an estate.

It all starts when Gorcey and Huntz Hall are skyscraper maintenance workers, and Gorcey intercepts a special delivery letter in his name, Terrence Mahoney, which indicates he has just inherited an estate. When the Bowery boys go to the manor, they find strange characters running the premises. They discover a gang of diamond smugglers are entrenched in the manor house, and the fun really starts.

Dominion Theatre

Starring Louis Hayward and Dennis O'Keefe, Columbia's "Walk a Crooked Mile" will end its engagement at the Dominion Theatre today.

This Edward Small production, a tense spy thriller dealing with the F.B.I. and Scotland Yard, has Louise Allbritton and Carl Esmond in the principal supporting roles. George Bruce's screenplay was directed by Gordon Douglas; Grant Whytock produced.

In Search Of Provincial Cage Title

Champions of the Victoria and District Basketball League, Wally Yeamans' Eaglettes will take the first step towards what they hope is the B.C. championship when they play the up-island winners for the island intermediate A championship in the near future. Eaglettes are the only entry in the lower island bracket and thus automatically qualify for the finals. Back row, left to right: Lorna Edwards, Jean Suffern, Evelyn Slater, Elaine Barry, Wally Yeamans, manager-coach; front row: Lorna Latham, Pat Yeamans, Barbara Peterson.

Life Of Cage Mentor Unhappy One-Knott

Has anyone got a spare practice hour for a championship senior basketball team?

Rom Knott, manager of Brentwood Aces, would like to know the answer to that one.

Since winning the semifinal round of the lower island playoffs from McNutt's, Knott has been endeavoring to find a gym floor on which his team can hold a workout. But so far he has had no success.

Figuring he had a good chance when Pro Pats were eliminated from the senior playdowns, Knott applied for the vacated hour but found he was beaten to the draw by Cec's U Drive.

This didn't annoy the portly Brentwood mentor but on Tuesday night the situation reached a climax when he learned that Duncan's classy senior B squad had been practicing in the High School gym with Vic High's Rep League game.

Knott was burning when he came into the Times Sport Office Wednesday and for good reason.

PLAY DUNCAN

You see, the next step in Brentwood's quest of the island title is against this same Duncan team. Knott tried to arrange exhibition games with Duncan during the year but was turned down. And then Duncan suddenly appears on the High School gym when Aces can't even get to first base with their requests.

Of late he has tried to arrange practice sessions with K.V.'s and the "Y" senior A clubs. But they won't have anything to do with his club.

The way Knott has it figured out is that Duncan is out to win the senior B title—the up-island players scouted Brentwood against McNutt's—and they're out to get every possible break before the series opens at Duncan March 2.

CHARTERED BUS

Speaking of that series, Knott said that a bus will be chartered for the trip and anyone wishing to make the trip is asked to contact him by Monday night.

The second game of the total-point playoff is scheduled for the Vic High gym March 5.

White Plains, N.Y. — Steve Bellrose, 161, New York, knocked out Leon Gabriel, 153½, Atlantic City, 7.

Varsity Stages Comeback To Score Ice Playoff Win

VANCOUVER (CP) — University of British Columbia Thunderbirds last night surprised the experts as they downed Nanaimo Clippers 7 to 2 in the third game of the seven-game Pacific Coast Senior B Hockey League finals.

Still smarting from 6 to 1 and 4 to 2 setbacks at Nanaimo earlier this week, the Thunderbirds played their best game of the season, making every move count.

Star of the game was Thunderbird goalie Don Adams. It was he who took most of the credit for the victory as neither team showed a great deal of edge in offensive play.

Time and again he stopped the Nanaimo squad who in the first period looked as if they would still be Birds for the third consecutive time.

The fourth and fifth games will be played at Nanaimo. Friday and Saturday with the sixth, if needed, scheduled here next week.

Clare Drake shoved Thunderbirds ahead in the first minute of play with a shot that caught Clipper goalie Mike Rivers flat-footed.

Tom McLean evened things up a few minutes later when he scored an impressive goal without any help.

The tie was short-lived, however, as Bill Husband put U.B.C. ahead 2 to 1 in the second half of the period. From then on Varsity was never headed.

Brooklyn Dodgers Sign Another Negro

BROOKLYN (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers added the 11th negro baseball player to their organization Wednesday when they signed James Edward Pendleton, 23-year-old right-handed hitting shortstop. The player was assigned to St. Paul of the American Association.

Pendleton was purchased from Chicago Giants of the Negro American League, where he had been 340 last year.

Pendleton performed in the Venezuelan Winter League last season and hit .360 for the third-place Magallanes club. He led the circuit in home runs.

Wagner Celebrates 75th Birthday

CARNEGIE, Pa. (AP) — Baseball's "Mr. Shortstop" today celebrated 75 years of living.

Bandy-legged, barrel-chested Honus Wagner said he'd "stay in baseball as long as it will have me."

"There are a few more details to take care of," Hotchkiss said, "but we are now ready to start work, and I'm sure we'll be ready to keep the city in the league scene by the proper time. He indicated that announcements on a new manager and players will be made soon.

Ryan said that he is "very satisfied with the way things have worked out."

The "Flying Dutchman" retired from the playing ranks in 1917 after a 21-year major-league career. Most of his marks still stand—tribute to the hulking shortstop the late John McGraw called the "greatest player in baseball history."

Honus went back to baseball in 1932 as a scout and coach for his beloved Pittsburgh Pirates.

Hundreds of birthday messages and telegrams poured into the Wagner home in this little community, five miles from Pittsburgh.

Tickets now on sale at Hocking & Forbes, 1006 Douglas Street.

'Y' Within Game Of Senior Cage Title

Outclass K.V.'s In Second Game Of Series; Jackson Again Top Scorer

K.V.'s chances of extending the senior A playoffs beyond the bare minimum of three games received a severe jolt last night when Doug Peden's Y.M.C.A. quintette blasted through for a 53 to 37 victory in the second game of the series to all but sew up the title for the second straight year.

K.V.'s final hope of salvaging at least one victory out of the set comes Saturday night when the teams clash in the third game.

The island final—a best-of-five series—opens at Alberni March 4 with the second game March 5. Third, fourth and fifth games are scheduled in Victoria March 12, 16 and 19.

After the first quarter last night there wasn't much doubt as to the eventual outcome.

K.V.'s looked extremely bad in the opening frame as pass after pass went astray while their defense was woefully weak.

JACKSON STARTS DRIVE

Starting where he left off Monday night, Busher Jackson put the "Y" on the victory trail with five straight points in the first three minutes. Sparking the "Y" drive, Jackson ran his total to 10 before the period was out and the breather found K.V.'s on the short end of a 21 to 9 count.

The sloppily-played second quarter was about even with the "Y" increasing its leading margin, 29 to 14.

Johnny Clark and Ralph Baxter took over the scoring load in the second half for the "Y" with the latter showing his best marksmanship of the year.

K.V.'s improved their play in the final stanza and matched the winners, basket for basket, after once falling behind by 21 points in the game.

MCGAHENY STEADY

Jackson captured second-game scoring honors with 15 points while Baxter and Clark contributed to the "Y" cause with 14 and 13, respectively. Duff McGahen was the lone member of K.V.'s able to find the target with a degree of consistency and topped the orangeshirts with 14. Fred Ranson, scoring most of his points in the second half, contributed 10 for runner-up honors.

The series so far hasn't been marked by particularly brilliant basketball with both games being on the scrappy side and both teams failing to show form displayed earlier in the season.

Last night, for example, it was 1 minute and 23 seconds before either team had a shot at basket on a free ball near centre court.

Main K.V. contention is that the refs are showing no consistency in their calls.

COLLEGE WIN

In last night's preliminary, the city championship Victoria College squad edged Eatons, 45 to 43, in an intermediate A exhibition tilt. Don McKinnon topped the scorers with 12 points. Clarkson and Mathews shared honors for Eatons, each with 10.

TEAMS AND SCORERS FOLLOW:

Y.M.C.A.—Clark 13, Clarkson 2, Dale 3, Wright 6, Jackson 15, Goldsmith 1, Baxter 14, Chungane, Anderson 10, Curtis 1, Scott 1, Anderson 5, Ranson 10, McKay 1, Cawther 3, Prior 2, Watson 10, Robinson 9, McRae 10, Fields 9, Clarkson 10, Geiser 3, Griffith 1, Robinson 10, Bain 1, Green 1, Colquhoun 1, Lewis 7, McRae 12, Oakley, Basit 6, Corry 8, Wright 2, Canova 1, Lamont 4, Robidson 4, Grundyson 1.

Vic High Cagers Play Port Angeles

Laurie Wallace's Victoria High rep basketball club will journey to Port Angeles Saturday for an exhibition tilt with the Port Angeles High team.

Locals, who will strip all 12 men for the contest, will play host to the Americans in the return match of a home-and-home exhibition series at a later date.

Players making the trip include: Bob Rowe, Walt Aceman, Bruce Naylor, Buzz Hudson, Gerry Parker, Don Hendry, Ian Firth, Cedric Robb, Al Boyd, John Newton, Archie McIntosh and Bill Bamford.

Philadelphia Ball Clubs Worry Over 11 Unsigned Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With spring training a week away, 11 Philadelphia major league players are still unsigned—three Athletics and eight Phils.

Six of the Phils returned their contracts with the notation—"Not enough." They are pitchers Ken Heintzelman, Robin Roberts and Schoolboy Rowe; catchers Andy Seminick and Ken Silvestri, and infielder Buddy Blattner.

But all wrote owner Bob Carpenter they'd be in training camp "to talk it over."

Other unsigned Phils are relief pitcher Ed Heusser who hasn't been heard from, one way or another, and outfielder Bert Haas.

A's manager Connie Mack expects to clear up his unsigned player business at the club's West Palm Beach, Fla., base.

Pitcher Phil Murchison of Penetanguishene, Ont., unhappy over a pay cut, is already in Florida waiting a chance to talk over terms.

Two outfielders also are unsigned—Taft Wright, purchased from Chicago White Sox and Herman (Coaker) Triplett.

Triplett is a former Phil who led the International League in batting last season while with Buffalo.

The Canadians, who came to Czechoslovakia after finishing second in the world championships at Stockholm, won their first match of a Czech tour 6 to 4 Tuesday night at Bratislava.

Regina led 3 to 0 at the end of the first period, 4 to 0 at the end of the middle session, rammed home four more goals in the third period while Leafs were getting their lone tally.

Leading goal-getters for the winners were Ross Tyrell, Bobby Schmid and Al Purvis, with two each and Bob Carlson, Johnny Michaluk and Bruce McDonald, with one marker to their credit.

Murphy got the only Lethbridge goal.

At Moose Jaw, Pats' Lorne Davis dominated the scoring with three goals. Bunny Davis counted twice and McDonald once. Glen Smith tallied the only Canadian marker.

Priddy, Graham Not Happy Over Offers

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Infielder Jerry Priddy and outfielder Jack Graham are still standing pat on salary demands from the St. Louis Browns.

Chief scout Jack Fournier, here to help set up the Browns' training camp, indicated further negotiations would be forthcoming when the club front office notables get to Burbank. Graham, home run hero of the Pacific Coast League last season, lives at nearby Long Beach, and Priddy in Los Angeles.

McIntyre Scores Three Counters In New Westminster Win

Take a look at Jack McIntyre if you want to see what keeps the New Westminster Royals atop the northern division of the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

The speedy skater Wednesday night showed home three goals and added an assist as the Royals subdued the Tacoma Rockets, 8 to 3.

The defeat kept the Rockets in a second-place tie with idle Portland.

At Los Angeles, the San Diego Skyhawks came through with four goals in the final 10 minutes to whip the Monarchs, 5 to 2.

The Skyhawks are now within one game of third-place Los Angeles in the southern division. And the teams meet again tonight. Oakland and Fresno are tied for the leadership.

In a battle between cellar occupants, the invading San Francisco Shamrocks lost to the Seattle Ironmen, 6 to 3. San Francisco holds down last place in the southern division. Seattle in the northern.

Minor Baseballers Call Special Meeting

A special meeting of the Victoria Minor Baseball Association will be held at the Eagles' Home View Street, Monday at 7:30, president Roy Shields has announced.

All managers and coaches of last year's teams are requested to attend, as changes and amendments to the league's new constitution will be the order of business.

Sportsmen's Banquet Tomorrow Night

Members of the Victoria Gun Club who plan to attend the annual banquet and meeting tomorrow night in Lougheed's Douglas Street Banquet Hall at 6:30 should immediately contact Roger Monteith, secretary. This is essential because of catering arrangements.

BROOKLYN (AP)—Gene Hermanski, hard-hitting outfielder, signed his 1949 contract Wednesday and became the 31st member of Brooklyn Dodgers to come to terms. Hermanski, 27, batted .300 last year.

Bandy-legged, barrel-chested Honus Wagner said he'd "stay in baseball as long as it will have me."

Referees' Group Suspends President Of Intercity Loop

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Referees' Association has suspended referee Ron Andrews, president of the intercity Basketball League, for one month for his part in a melee last week at Exhibition Gardens here.

The association took action at a meeting last night. At the same time it reprimanded referee George Siborne and Leonard (Gummy) Leach, secretary-treasurer of the Senior A league.

Andrews was suspended for arguing with Siborne and Leach, and the latter two reprimanded for the same reason. Leach has since resigned his post with the senior league.

Youthful Manitoba Curlers Undefeated In Canadian Tourney

EDMONTON (CP)—Only one rink, Manitoba, remains undefeated today as play enters the third day of the Dominion high school curling championship.

Manitoba's Arborg High School quartette, skipped by Michael Zacharuk, last night chalked up its fourth straight victory in the 'spiel, scheduled to wind up today, by defeating the only other previously-unbeaten rink, Ontario, by a count of 8 to 6.

The Manitoba entry's chances of running its undefeated string to five straight matches is bright as today's sixth-round draw matches them against the North West Territories entry which so far has failed to register a triumph.

In other games last night, the second-place Saskatchewan entry, skipped by Jack Thompson from Humboldt Collegiate Institute, nosed out Quebec, 9 to 8, and British Columbia defeated North West Territories, 11 to 9. The seventh entry in the bantam, Alberta, had a bye.

Other sixth-round draws pit British Columbia against Alberta, Quebec against Ontario, while, this time, Saskatchewan gets the bye.

A seventh draw is scheduled for today, while a special draw has been arranged in the event that there are ties.

At present, Manitoba heads the pack with four victories against no defeats. Saskatchewan is second with four wins and one defeat. Ontario is third with three victories and one defeat, while British Columbia follows in fourth place with two victories and three defeats.

Quebec and Alberta have each won one match and dropped three, while the N.W.T. entry has lost all of its four matches.

Edmonton Football Leader Promises Fair Treatment To Players

EDMONTON (CP)—Eric Duggan, chairman of the players committee of the Edmonton Club of the Western Interprovincial Rugby Football Union, said Wednesday that players coming here will get "the same treatment and consideration as they would anywhere else in Canada."

He was commenting on a Vancouver report that Ralph Henderson of the coast city had said "anybody going to Edmonton is making a mistake."

Duggan, replying to Henderson's statement, the only reason a man should go to Edmonton is if he wants adventure and "possibly a wasted year." Duggan said the backers of the Edmonton team are anxious to make things as good as possible for incoming prospects.

Duggan described as untrue a claim by the coast athlete that 30 coast players have been invited to play in Edmonton.

"The only contact we've had with any Vancouver footballers is through letters some of them have written us," Duggan said. "Many have expressed interest in trying out here this year."

Bills Would Outlaw Reserve Clause

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Bills to outlaw the reserve clause in baseball players' contracts were introduced in the state legislature Wednesday.

The measures were prompted by the current court fight over the clause between Danny Gardeola and the New York Giants. The reserve clause provides that after a player has signed a contract with a major league organization, he must stay within that organization until it releases him.

NEW YORK (AP)—Managers along Jacobs Beach say Sandy Saddler will never get Willie Pep in the same ring with him again.

Charley Johnston, Saddler's manager, is resting up his ex-feather king.

Harry Markson, the able and busy managing director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, hopes to get Marcel Cerdan to fill in his April Garden date in a non-title affair. It's Markson's only open Garden date before the circus moves into town . . . If the middleweight champ can't make it here in time he'll probably box for Larry Atkins in Cleveland later in the month.

One reason for Joe DiMaggio's popularity (besides his big bat), is his easily recognizable face. His long, sharp-beak stands out . . . How many current ball players would you recognize if you met them in the street?

VAUGHAN CHECKS IN

Boysen Hot Springs—The San Francisco Seals' camp was cheered today with the arrival of Arky Vaughan, veteran major league outfielder who was with Brooklyn last year. Third baseman Frank Shoemaker and Le Roy Jarvis, rookie catcher, formerly of the Pittsburgh Pirates, also showed.

Ontario—Dick Greco, 24-year-old slugging outfielder and hurler Mike Budnick signed San Diego Padres contracts. Still unsigned are Steve Mesner, Tom Seats, Buster Adams, and Pete Coscarat. However, it was reported that Seats is ready to talk contract.

Riverside—The Portland Beavers hurling staff, working under hot sun, are rounding fast into shape. Manager Bill Sweeney predicts the Beavers moundsmen will be able to do more than the usual three-inning stint when the practice game schedule opens late next week.

293 Less Families Move To B.C. This Month Than In January

A decrease of 293 in the number of families in receipt of allowances who came to B.C. from other provinces in February, as compared with January, was noted by W. R. Bone, regional director of family allowances, in releasing figures for the month.

"While the influx of families in receipt of allowances into British Columbia from other parts of the Dominion continued during the current month, with 402 entering and 235 leaving, these figures showed a decrease as compared with January when 695 families entered and 221 left," Mr. Bone said.

Saskatchewan families continued to top the list with 156, that province receiving 35 British Columbia families in return.

Alberta was second, sending 147 and receiving 100. Manitoba sent 44 and received 33.

"During February, 278,546 children in 147,189 families received allowances, totaling $1,654,592," Mr. Bone said.

Maj. D. M. C. Saunders, 29, of the Royal Canadian Engineers in Victoria, has been chosen as one of 19 Canadian Army officers to serve in the United Kingdom for two years under a new exchange agreement which will bring a similar number of British Army officers to Canada.

The exchange plan will be completed before the end of the year. Maj. Saunders has already gone overseas and is serving there under the plan.

Officers involved will exchange duties principally at schools of instruction, research and development establishments and in staff appointments in either country, Defence Minister Brooke Claxton reported.

"Canada and the United Kingdom have exchanged officers for many years," Mr. Claxton said. "Both countries also exchange officers with the United States. The practice permits a free exchange of information and is of

Walter Rutherford Outlines U.I.C. Work To Auto Union

Walter Rutherford of the Victoria Branch of the Unemployment Insurance Commission gave a detailed outline of the work of the commission since its inception in 1941, to a meeting of the Automotive Maintenance Workers' Union, T.L.C., Wednesday night in the Labor Hall on Broughton Street.

Mr. Rutherford spoke of the many and varied difficulties encountered in the administration of the act. He stressed the important part that unions play in the entire unemployment insurance scheme, through the medium of the labor representative who is one of the three commissioners as well as the labor representation on the various advisory committees.

While there are still many difficulties to be overcome Mr. Rutherford explained how the act was operating in favor of working people throughout Canada.

He invited the union to make any constructive criticism either directly or through the labor advisory committee representatives.

A full discussion took place on the progress of the requested Trademen's Qualification Act and the certification of repairmen engaged in the auto trade.

The union has been pressing for this legislation for the past four years as members feel it would be a step forward in reducing accidents, due to faulty workmanship.

The union met with the whole co-operation of the auto dealers in Victoria on this issue, and the government is again being requested to enact the necessary legislation at the current session.

U.S. Finds Draft Dodgers Outfox Experts In Psychiatric Quiz Show

Draftees get a few words of wisdom from the sergeant before they face the mental exams and intelligence tests, an army quiz show in which the experts try to keep from being outfoxed.

WASHINGTON—You've got to be a "polished liar" to avoid the draft by flunking the army's mental and psychiatric tests on purpose.

Nevertheless it appears to be nip and tuck these days between the government's mental experts and the new draftees as to who outfoxes whom in the psychiatric department.

Many State draft officials recently meeting in Washington admitted that some of the men being examined are double-talking their way out of uniform by giving the right wrong answers to mental stability questions.

Just what these questions are—some written and some oral—is top secret. And that's been part of the problem, keeping them secret. There have been eight major revisions of the standard test since 1940, partly for this reason.

The question arises as to whether the questions can be changed enough to fool the men any more. Millions of men have taken these tests during the past eight years and a lot of information has gotten out as to their general technique and intent.

Within a few months another brand new test will be brought into use. It is supposed to be the best combination of everything the air force, navy and army have learned about mental examinations and intelligence tests.

This new test will put special emphasis on a man's ability to visualize objects in space. A typical question will show a flat diagram with dotted lines. The problem is to describe the shape of the object which would result from folding the diagram along the dotted lines. The new test will also attach greater importance to a man's job experience in attempting to classify him for service.

The same general test and psychiatric interview is given to

Mar. 31 Deadline To Apply For Admission To Service Colleges

Aspirants for careers as the active and reserve forces of the Navy, Army and Air Force have until March 31 to apply for admission to the Canadian Services Colleges at Royal Roads and Kingston for the year 1949-50.

In 1948, the Naval and Air Force College at Royal Roads and also the Royal Military College at Kingston became joint services colleges with courses designed to train officer cadets for worth forcing into service. If it can be proven that they deliberately tried to fail the tests, they can be prosecuted.

One reason an increasing number of draftees may be able to falsify their tests is the lack of trained examiners. On some of the tests it takes a pretty shrewd psychologist to detect inconsistencies.

The army isn't so desperate for young men that this method of dodging the draft will make any difference to their manpower needs. As one army official points out, any man who would go to that extent to keep out of service probably wouldn't make a soldier worth training, anyway. It is a deliberate attempt to violate the law, however, and the army promises that every effort will be made to punish offenders.

QUALIFICATIONS

In order to be eligible for enrollment at either of the Canadian services colleges, candidates must pass a medical examination, have both junior and senior matriculation and pass a qualifying examination in mathematics, English or French.

Application forms and any further information may be obtained from the Registrar, Royal Military College, Kingston, or the Commandant, Royal Roads.

Treats A Cold In Cold Storage Room

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — When most people catch influenza or a cold they go to bed and stay warm. J. P. Viljoen, worker in a Rand cold storage works, enters the freezer and stays there for half an hour, with the temperature 2 to 5 degrees below zero.

"I never catch cold inside the cold room. I catch them from other people in buses and trams," says Viljoen. "Ordinary people going in there with a cold would die of pneumonia, but the cold fixes a cold with me."

"I catch more colds in hot weather. It is just a case of what you are used to."

VANCOUVER (CP) — Residents of the Fraser Valley should have little fear of floods this spring, Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew said Wednesday. The fisheries minister said he had been assured by diking commissioner J. B. Carswell that diking is ahead of schedule and that by April 15 the situation will be "much better than at the same time last year."

10 Years, 3 Billion, Give U.S. Atom Lead

From the air, one of the United States first atomic energy plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., sprawls out in the midst of rolling hills. This is the first picture of the plant to be released since its 1948 modernization. A community of 36,000 surrounds it.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
Victoria Times Correspondent

WASHINGTON—At a cost of $3,000,000,000, spent over a period of 10 years, this country has achieved so great a lead in the production of atomic energy that no nation can overtake us—if we maintain our present pace.

That is the highlight of the Atomic Energy Commission's report to Congress, just off the press.

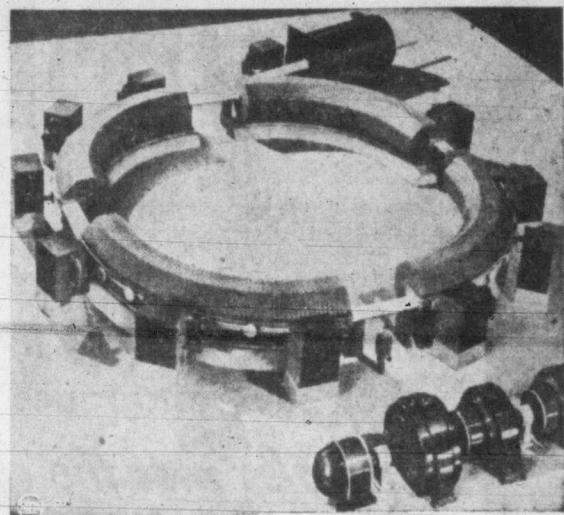

The phenomenon of nuclear fission—the fact that an atom can be "split," and in the process it will release tremendous energy—was first confirmed in this country during the last week in January, 1939.

Since that time, the Commission reports, we have put into operation 30 plants in 25 different locations. Fissionable materials are being produced in 15 states. Two communities, with combined population of more than 50,000 persons have been built from the ground up to house and sustain workers in the major atomic plants.

OPERATING LEVELS

The big achievement of the past was an expansion program that greatly increased production capacity, and cut operating costs. Thus, for the first time since this country began working on atomic energy, the AEC reports, "the production chain has been raised to sound operating levels."

Achieving this goal in 1948 involved a history-making building program. The report states: "By the spring of 1948, the building of these new major facilities for the production of fissionable materials had become the greatest single construction program in America's peacetime history. Work which eventually would cost more than $700,000,000 was under way. It centred at the Hanford (Wash.) plutonium works."

One of the newest research projects being undertaken by the government in the field of nuclear physics, the report reveals, is the construction of a new machine called the proton synchrotron at the Brookhaven National Laboratory near Patchogue, Long Island, N.Y. An electro-nuclear accelerator which will increase the speed of atomic particles to energies about seven times as great as any ever produced in a laboratory to date, it will whirl protons at the rate of 3,000,000 electron volts, a speed sufficient to generate artificial cosmic rays. It will be used to obtain more basic information about the structure of the atom.

The synchrotron, which will be operating late in 1949, is 75 feet across and had to be built 10 feet under the ground, so penetrating are the particles it generates.

The AEC doesn't hesitate to Suggest Aran, Skye As Escape From Crisis-Torn Europe

DUBLIN (Reuters)—If anyone wants a peaceful home in crisis-torn Europe he can take his choice between the Aran group of islands off the west coast of Eire, and Skye, one of the Inner Hebrides group off northwest Scotland.

There is plenty of room, but even there there are problems.

In the Aran Isles it is a matrimonial crisis. The island girls are leaving in ever-increasing numbers. They complain there is no social life. The only dancing allowed is folk-dancing.

The "king" of Aran, which covers 26 square miles, is 65-year-old Pat Mullen, father of British actress Barbara Mullen. He estimates there will be no one left in his bleak "kingdom" in 50 years unless new blood is introduced. He recommends the import of Spanish women.

The Aran bachelors are putting their heads together to think up a publicity campaign to attract women to the islands. That is their only hope of criticize its own progress in the report. It says:

There are a number of phases of the operations where the rate of progress has not been satisfactory. These include: Adequate budget and accounting controls; co-operation and exchange of information with industrial firms not actually participating in the program; personnel security clearance procedures; recruitment of scientific and technical talent; policies, procedures, and operations in both the issuance and control of information. In addition, work on the solution of a number of research and development problems referred to in the report has not progressed as rapidly as it can and will."

marrying, unless they themselves leave.

Mountainous Skye, once the stronghold of Clans Macleod and Macdonald, has seen its population drop from 24,000 in 1831, to 8,000 in 1948. Since 1900 the population is said to have decreased by three a week.

As in Aran, the greatest drain on population is among the young people who feel they have no prospects if they stay in the remote, 643-square-mile island of their birth.

The problems of Skye have just been discussed at a conference held in Portree, the island's capital, under the auspices of the Scottish Council of Social Service. The Registrar-General for Scotland, J. G. Kyd, presided.

He said Skye has helped more than any other part of Britain to build up the commonwealth of nations. Recalling the number of empire-builders who had gone forth from Skye, he described the island as "the blood donor not only for the British Commonwealth of Nations, but also for the world."

Island delegates criticized the lack of roads and air transport, expensive sea transport and poor sanitation.

Europe's Auto Makers Seek Dollars With Little Cars; Price, $1,050 Up

By S. BURTON HEATH
Victoria Times Correspondent

NEW YORK—You can buy a brand-new automobile, right out of the original carton, for a trifling $1,050, excise tax paid, in New York today. The price might be a few dollars higher, to cover transportation cost, in other cities.

If you insist on the car of tomorrow with engine in rear, you can pick that up for a mere $1,317, plus local sales tax.

Italian, French, British and Czech automobile makers are anxious to cash in on the plight of American motorists who want to replace prewar jalopies but who either can't get delivery or won't pay the inflated price. And the foreign manufacturers are anxious to get badly needed dollar exchange.

For a week the old "Fighting 69th" Regiment armory was packed with specimens of 31 European-made automobiles, and tens of thousands of Americans who paid to look them over and often to order.

WIDE RANGE

Most of them were British made, ranging downward from a pretty fancy Rolls-Royce sports job (retailing for $22,500) to the Anglia (retailing for $1,399), which actually is a two-door.

The cheapest car in the show ($1,050) was the Italian Simca-Flat, a cute little carriage that weighs only 1,350 pounds and is supposed to cruise at 45 miles an hour—spurting to 60 in a pinch—and do 45 miles on a gallon of petrol.

This attracted considerably less attention than the French Renault, second lowest-cost exhibit ($1,317), which, has its engine in the rear, circulates heated air in the body in winter, and is supposed to cruise at 55 miles an hour, push 72 if you're in a rush, and travel 50 miles on a gallon of gas.

THE BIG THREE

These were the babies of the show, and they intrigued most visitors. But the real buying interest was more on some of the intermediate sizes like the Morris, the Austin and the Hillman, which are the Big Three of England's small car field in about that order.

The Morris Minor, either convertible or all-weather, sells for $1,575 in New York. The Austin two-door brings $1,595, the four-door $1,720. The Hillman Minx is offered for $1,896.

Other lower-priced cars that Europe hopes to popularize in this country include the $1,985 Singer, Ford's $1,621 four-door Prefect, and two Czech offerings for which, as yet, no dealer outlets have been obtained.

Except for the Fiat, the Renault and the Anglia, all of the low-power, high-speed machines.

Renault: For $1,317, engine-in-rear and 50 miles per gallon.

Morris Minor: Convertible or hard-top, $1,575 in New York.

with American cars. Admittedly, they are not what Americans want for touring.

Recognizing these limitations, most of the foreign makers are shooting for the "second car" market. They realize they can't threaten American domination. At most, they might altogether export to us as many cars as one smaller American independent produces.

Moscow Can't Undertake War Now—She's Bitten Off Already More Than She Can Chew

(Leon Dennen has been writing for newspapers, magazines and books since boyhood. The son of a publisher of several newspapers in the Ukraine, he was born in New York and educated at the City College of New York and the University of Wisconsin. Dennen has spent most of his 41 years in Europe. He is familiar with the languages, history and customs of Europe's peoples. In the past five years he has lived in France, Germany, Italy, the Balkans and the Middle East. During World War II he undertook a mission to rescue anti-Nazis from behind the German lines. Working from Istanbul through the undergrounds, he rescued some of the most important politicians in post-war Europe. Dennen became a special correspondent of NEA Foreign Service last year. As these dispatches are written, he has one prognostication outstanding—that the Russians will topple Tito.)

(First of three dispatches)

By LEON DENNEN

NEW YORK—Time—and the Marshall Plan—are working for peace in Europe. Together they are strengthening the position of the democracies and making the chances of a third war—for the present at least—less threatening.

I have just returned for a visit to the United States after five years in France, the Balkans, and other countries that the Soviet Union has taken, or tried to take, under her totalitarian wing.

Within recent weeks I have talked with many persons intimately familiar with the situation—men like Leon Blum, Socialist elder statesman of France who, in spite of his age, still has one of the clearest brains on the Continent; the idealistic vice-premier of Italy, Giuseppe Saragat; Italy's dynamic pro-American Minister of Industry, Ivan Matteo Lombardo; and my old friend, Professor Ernst Reuter, courageous, democratic lord mayor of the Russian-blocked

The Marshall Plan has helped stoke the furnaces of Europe's industry, like this factory in France, by supplying capital goods and raw material needed for the start toward recovery.

western sector of Berlin. My cow, not Washington or London, holds the key to peace of war.

Moscow's decision will not be made on ideological lines, but realistically on the same nationalistic lines that used to inspire the Czars.

Neither will Moscow be plunged into unwanted war on the basis of some error or "incident." Any such incident, even in the tense Berlin situation, is highly improbable because Washington has made it very clear to the Kremlin that armed expansion beyond the present east-west line of demarcation would be interpreted as an act of war.

The transition from "cold" war to "hot" war would imply a will to war, which does not exist, presently, in either Washington or Moscow.

Moscow's deadly fear of war is accepted by those in Europe who are in the best position to know. It has a very good, hard-boiled reason.

MOSCOW HOLDS KEY

Even the propaganda-ridden Germans now realize that Mostions, ideologies than it can digest. Even before China was pulled in, she was up to her ears in troubles.

The Balkans are seething with discontent and subterfuge, about some of which I shall tell in later dispatches. Some of it can not be told now, without endangering anti-Communist or pro-democratic forces which are at work.

Meanwhile America's E.C.A. program, working up with a reviving spirit of self-dependence, is strengthening the Socialistic countries of western Europe who, in a very real sense, are capitalistic America's first line of defense.

MUCH TO BE DONE

The victory is not yet won, by any means. The overcrowded cafes of Paris or Rome, frequented by black market operators and by tourists with dollars to spend, might suggest that Europe is too well-fed and that further Marshall Plan aid would be a waste of United States money. A visit to the mining area of Pas de Calais, or to the agricultural regions of Italy, might indicate that most Europeans are on the verge of starvation.

The truth lies between these extremes. European industry and transport badly needed capital goods and raw materials to restore war damage. But this had to be delayed while post-war coalition governments got food to feed their hungry peoples.

In such key countries as France and Italy wages still are very low and prices very inflationary. But, with Marshall Plan aid, both countries are beginning to make slow progress, industrially and agriculturally. As Ambassador W. Averell Harriman pointed out, European steel production rose about 20 per cent in 1948, and grain output was up 40 per cent, getting close to pre-war.

Moscow is losing her grip on European labor. The Red-dominated French C.G.T. steadily loses members to its anti-Communist rival, the Force Ouvrière. In Italy, Socialists are preparing to split Vittorio's Communist Federation of Labor. Withdrawal of the C.I.O. and the British Trade Union Congress already has cost the World Federation of Trade Unions most of its influence.

This has been done in part by the intelligent, persistent efforts of labor leaders.

But it would not have been possible if the Marshall Plan had not put enough food into the stomachs of European workers to give them some hope for the future—if it had not helped industry and agriculture to get starts towards recovery—if it had not proved that the United States was behind democracy in Europe with something more realistic than empty words.
